

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A processor includes a processor core having a general-purpose register, an instruction decoder,
5 and an execution unit. An extension unit includes another execution unit connected to the processor core; and, a direct memory access controller is connected to both the processor core and the extension unit.

10